A lot of people believe that Moscow is the best and the most beautiful city in Russia. And I agree with them. There are is a countless number of interesting places to visit in Moscow. Tourists from all over the world come to Moscow to see the Red Square, the buildings of Stalin times, the Kolomenskoye park and other beautiful places.

But my favorite one is the Zaryadye park. It is located in the very center of Moscow. This park was built a few years ago, but it has already become one of the main places of the city. The park contains plants and trees from every climate zone of Russia. That is why I think foreign tourists should visit the Zaryadye park. There they can not only learn about Moscow but also about all regions of Russia. Moreover, it is considered the best public space in Russia, this means that every person can find something for themselves. People can make beautiful photos or read some interesting information on information stands.

I believe that all tourists that come to Moscow should visit the Zaryadye park as it is the place of in the city.
