The Arbat

My favourite place in Moscow is the Arbat street. I really like this street, because it's very beautiful and sightful, you can enjoy the atmosphere of this street and take amazing photos here. There are a lot of different modern fashion-stores, old-fashioned shops, cafes, ^{and} restaurants. You can buy something like fashionable clothes, books or souvenirs there. Also you can try delicious deserts or coffee. Moreover, there are a lot of musicians playing different musical instruments or singing. You can ~~listen~~ ^{hear} to any kind of music there.

When I was there the last time, I saw a woman playing an violin. It was breathtaking! When I walked down the street I saw actors, whose bodies were painted with silver or gold colours and they were standing like sculptures. It was very interesting and unique.

I bit further I saw a man dancing in the circle of people to hip-hop music. He was so cool.

I would definitely recommend foreign tourists to visit this the Arbat and walk through it to enjoy the whole atmosphere and take some incredible photos. I think this place is memorable and very lovely and entertaining. Also ~~good~~ ^{it's} a good place to get acquainted with the city and people who live there,
